

Sherrone King- Moore

August 14, 1970 - December 10, 2023

A TIME TO BE BORN

Sherrone King-Moore entered the world on August 14', 1970, in Washington, DC. She was the middle child and only daughter born to the late Charles T. King and Maudese Jeffries.

A TIME TO LEARN

Sherrone was educated in the Prince George's County School system, graduating from Central High School in 1988. She went on to continue her education, attending Prince George's Community College.

A TIME OF SERVICE

Sherrone began her career in the Federal government with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Until her untimely departure, Sherrone worked for Integrity, Inc., as a contractor for the National & Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

A TIME TO LIVE

Sherrone met her husband and best friend, Charles (Boobie) Moore in 2002. After years of dating, they decided to tie the knot on September 28", 2017. They were inseparable. They enjoyed spending time together, often playing a few rounds of Spades. Charles' family welcomed her with open arms. The male cousins especially would call Sherrone up and talk for hours about relationship advice.

Sherrone made friends wherever she went. She was a people person who loved to laugh and have fun. She loved a good family gathering or just hanging out with the people she loved.

She took great pleasure in cooking for her family. Sherrone loved listening to music sounds of R&B and Go-Go were her favorites.

Sherrone took her first cruise earlier this year with her children.

She enjoyed it so much that she was ready to set sail again. One thing we know is that she loved her children and her husband.

She was their everything, and vice versa. Sherrone also had a special relationship with her brothers, and would often times check in with them, asking question after question, to which they sat and answered each and every one of them.

A TIME OF TRANSITION

Sherrone lived a very quiet and quaint life; and at the tender age of 53, she transitioned on the morning of Sunday, December 10", to her heavenly home. She will be truly missed by those who loved and cherished her.

A TIME TO CELEBRATE

Sherrone leaves to cherish her memory, her husband, Charles Moore; daughters La'Mysha and Sydni; son Addison; brothers Duane (Steve) King (Tasha); Bryan King (Nicole); grandson Makhi; her stepchildren and grandchildren; aunts Carrie Campbell and Delores King; uncles Ordorff Jeffries (Perry) and James King; a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and extended family and friends.

“ My dearest Sister-in-Love. There are very few people in life with whom we have an unexplainable connection. It goes beyond the boundaries of friendship and creates something much more profound. For me, we were family; you were an enduring companion. We share memories that shaped our sisterhood into a special bond. Every moment has been treasured, from our first time laughing together to our last “Love you, Sissy” message.

I'm going to miss our random check-ins, just to say I love you and thinking of you. You will be truly missed. Keep smiling down on me from the clouds in Heaven. Love you eternally, Sissy!
